

Our customer spot light is Southern Belle Farm located in the rural area of McDonough, Georgia. Owned and run by the Carter Family for five generations which is similar to Mason Tractor Company.

Mr. Jimmy Carter currently runs the 200 acre farm along with his son Jake. Jake added an educational side which offers school tours with milking cow demonstrations, a cotton patch; pick your own strawberries and blueberries and a fall corn maze. The Carters open up their farm so that others can enjoy a taste of the good life along with receiving education about agriculture.

The farm currently owns many farm tractors and implements that they use daily to work the land. Although they do not currently have a working dairy farm, they are good stewards towards the land. In the event of an equipment breakdown, we at Mason Tractor are always glad to be on standby to pick up and repair as quickly as possible and return back to the Farm.
